Llys Owen Refurbishment

We worked with Wales & West Housing (WWH) on a full refurbishment of one of their schemes, Llys Owen, a retirement scheme located in Cardigan, Mid Wales. We provided an extensive service which included interior design, resident consultation, layout plans, project management, furniture supply and much more.

We presented several of our standard mood boards to the staff at Llys Owen, who narrowed down the choice for their residents to three mood boards. A resident consultation was then carried out by our team, where the residents chose our Pastel mood board. The Pastel mood board was then used as a theme throughout the ground floor and first floor, from reception area to corridors.

We produced a full decoration finish, specifying the flooring as well as suggesting additional alterations such as the removal of doors, giving the scheme a modern but homely feel. The choice of paint was carefully specified by our team, which provided two defined floors allowing for easy way finding for the residents. Matching artwork was specified on each floor, with a sea theme on the ground floor – bringing the seaside location into Llys Owen.

“Buckingham Interiors have been incredibly helpful throughout the whole process. We received a catalogue along with case studies that provided the visual assurance we were after – allowing us to see the furniture in situ in other schemes. Buckingham Interiors were not only really helpful but also flexible and supportive in their approach, providing the right advice in assisting with layout and quantity of items needed. Their work with contractors was speedy and the communication was great throughout, which was really reassuring.”

We specified wall paper for the communal lounge and separated the area into both café and lounge sections, allowing the residents to utilise the space to its maximum. The large reception area was also maximised by creating a lounge section, not only does this utilise the large space but it also makes the scheme welcoming to new residents and prospective residents when they come to view the property.
